and Sadie books, after The Twelfth of July and Across the Barricades. Protestant Sadie and Catholic Kevin have married and "escaped" to London - but will they ever really be free of Belfast and its troubles? In this third book about Sadie and Kevin, Joan Lingard has added a new understanding of the strains of young marriage to the sombre representation of life in Belfast.

One small act of kindness ripples out to connect four kids in this stirring novel by the author of the beloved The Benefits of Being an Octopus. Libby comes from a long line of bullies. She wants to be different, but sometimes that doesn't work out. To bolster herself, she makes a card with the message "You are amazing." That card sets off a chain reaction that ends up making a difference in the lives of some kids who could also use a boost—be it from dealing with unaccepting families, or the hole that grief leaves. Receiving an encouraging message from each kid summon up the thing they need most, whether it's bravery, empathy, or understanding. Because it helps them realize they matter—and that they're not flying solo anymore. Winner of the Carnegie Medal. Jacko is dying, being sucked dry by the sinister Carmody. Laura hopes to save him by changing over. But what further supernatural dangers will that risk? And what are the other changeovers which threaten her life, such as her relationship with Sorry Carl.

How would you get rid of a murder weapon without causing suspicion? Where would you hide a diamond where no one else would think of looking? What if you found out that your tattoo on your back was worth over a million dollars? You will discover that just about anything is possible in a Roald Dahl story, and here are eleven of his very best. Moving to a small town with his grandparents after a devastating accident, Neil endures a terrible plague that kills the world's adults, an event that compels him to make a treacherous journey to London in search of other survivors. By the author of the Tripods trilogy. Simultaneous eBook. The Mississippi of the 1930s was a hard place for a black child to grow up in, but still Cassie didn't understand why farming his own land meant so much to her father. During that year, though, when the riders were carrying hatred and destruction among her people, she learned about the deep differences that divided them, and when it was worth fighting for a principle even if it meant even worse hardships. Captain James Cook's voyage in the Endeavour which resulted in the mapping of New Zealand and the east coast of Australia, was an epic voyage into the unknown. According to the British government - who wished to deceive the world as to its true purpose - it was merely a scientific expedition to observe the transit of the planet Venus across the face of the sun, a measurement which could help to establish the scale of the universe itself. It turned out to be the one of the greatest voyages of discovery. Buddy has a hopeless crush on an aging rocker, interested only in Elvis and bikes, and living on the fringes of the underground. When Buddy's mum walks out, the two manage to strike up some kind of relationship. Buddy realizes that his dad is involved in something more serious than he suspected. A totally convincing account of a boy's faltering relationship with his father. Friends 'til the end, that's what Ronnie, Fleur and Claude always said. But with summer just around the corner, it could be slap bang in the middle of a bambino bust-up. There's no doubt who's to blame. Cressida Sleeth, the manipulative new girl at school. They have to put this behind them.

seven weeks in Surfer's paradise, in return for waiting a few tables, seems exactly what they need. But they haven't counted on evil hotel boss Miss Scrumble. Or small distractions like Babe Competitions with cash prizes. And how can they work with the world's hottest girl on their doorstep? Ronnie, Fleur and Claude are in for the summer of their lives... Roman o kærlighed grundlagt i Prag i for to hundrede år siden som lever videre hinsides tiden og gennem vampyrer An emotional, thought-provoking book from multi-award-winning author Bette Greene. The summer that Patty Bergen turns twelve is a summer that will haunt her forever. When her small hometown in Arkansas becomes the site of a camp housing German prisoners during World War II, Patty learns what it means to open her heart. Even though Jewish, she begins to see a prison escapee, Anton, not as a Nazi, but as a lonely, frightened young man with feelings not unlike her own. In Anton, Patty finds someone who softens her of her own father's rejection and who appreciates her in a way her mother never will. As patriotic feelings run high, Patty risks losing family, friends — even her freedom — for a dangerous friendship. It is a risk she has to take and one she will have to pay a price for.

"An exceptionally fine novel." —The New York Times "Courageous and compelling!" —Publishers Weekly A National Book Award Finalist An ALA Notable Book A New York Times Outstanding Book of the Year A bus load of children held hostage by terrorists is at the heart of this novel. The background is the hearts and minds of those drawn into the web of deceit and intrigue surrounding this intrigue. Characters include the 16-year-old terrorist, Miro, a boy with no future. A boy recounts his annual summer trips to rural Illinois with his sister during the Great Depression to visit their larger-than-life grandmother. Simon revered the memory of his soldier father who'd been killed on duty, and detested his new stepfather. Then one day a scarecrow appeared in the field near the Oldwater Mill, and Simon became certain the scarecrow was moving closer to the house each night. This novel won the Carnegie Medal. Moeri has told this story with an unsensationalized precision that will compel readers through the experience of 12-year-old King David, who regains consciousness after the massacre of his wagon train and assumes responsibility for his little sister's life on a barren plain . . . Vivid (and) memorable.--Booklist, starred review. A simple history experiment at her school turns her friends into chanting, saluting fanatics and they scoff at her warnings, but she desperately tries to get through to them before it is too late. They entered the house at 9.02 p.m. In the next nine minutes they smashed mirrors, broke televisions, and spray-painted the walls. They damaged everything they touched. At 9.51 p.m. they abandoned the house as suddenly as they had arrived, and left fourteen-year-old Karen Jerome bruised and broken on the cellar floor. But one person saw it happen, and while Karen lies in a coma, he is plotting his revenge.

tales, set in England, in which people engaged in ordinary pursuits attract the attention of supernatural forces. Have you checked under your bed? Made sure there's nothing hidden in your wardrobe? Good. Then you should be safe to read this book... Settle down for the ghostly stories lurking behind the glow in the dark cover... Enter the terrifying world of the supernatural and meet an unnerving array of ghosts and ghouls, including a Victorian child with disturbing powers, two children with a gruesome plan, and a bizarre ghost puppy.

through all 14 stories? Paul-Edward is the son of a wealthy white plantation owner and a former slave mother. Though his heritage is not unusual, for it is the time of the American Civil War, his upbringing is. His father makes sure that he and his sister enjoy many of the same privileges as their white half-brothers. Paul-Henry dreams of owning land every bit as much as his father's and, after a rash act of rebellion, leaves his family and vows to succeed on his own. Life is difficult for a young black person in 1880s Mississippi but Paul-Edward discovers his own strength, makes true friendships and even falls in love as he eventually fulfills his dream. Paul-Edward is the grandfather of Cassie Logan, the heroine of ROLL OF THUNDER, HEAR MY CRY and its sequels. A tense, exciting thriller combined with a perceptive and harrowing portrait of life on the streets as a serial killer preys on the young and vulnerable homeless. 17-year-old Link is distrustful of people until he pairs up with Deb, homeless like him. But Deb doesn't tell him is that she's an ambitious young journalist on a self-imposed assignment to track down the killer and that she's prepared to use herself as bait ... Winner of the Carnegie Medal After joining the army at fifteen and having his face blown away by a grenade in France, Francis returns home to Frenchtown hoping to find, and kill, the former child hero he feels betrayed him. Suggested level: senior secondary. When Ralph discovers the mysterious creature buried beneath the ancient cairns, high up on the fells, he realises he has discovered something that possesses enormous and terrifying power. During a drought the Logan family shares their well water with all their neighbors, black and white alike. But Ben and Hammer find it hard to share with Charlie Simms, who torments them because they are black. Hammer's pride and Charlie's meanness are a dangerous mixture, and tensions build. Narrated by young David Logan, Cassie's father in Roll of Thunder, Hear My Cry, this extraordinary story is filled with characters and events so real that they're unforgettable. "Taylor has used her gift for storytelling and skillful characterization to craft a brief but compelling novel about prejudice and the saving power of human dignity." -- "School Library Journal," starred review BABY BLUE picks up Mia's story (begun in BLUE MOON) just after the birth of her baby. Mia is sixteen now, and still living with Dad, although this relationship becomes increasingly under strain. Not only is Mia having to work out the complicated emotional and practical implications of being a mother when she herself is still a child, but the huge emotional needs of her own, she is also having to negotiate new relationships with the adults and young people around her. This illustrated collection of amusing poems and stories celebrating primary school life won the Signal Poetry Award in 1990. Meet Billy McBorn in the Mad Professor's Daughter, be amazed by the Longest Kiss Contest, shed a tear for Without a Name and – if you're a stressed teacher – sing the Mrs Butler Blues. "This direct sequel to Roll of Thunder, Hear My Cry is a powerful novel . . . capable of touching readers of any age." --The Christian Science Monitor An uncompromising, true-to-life story of two teenagers drawn into the destructive world of drug addiction and prostitution. This powerful force should become the definitive teenage novel on this subject. It is the summer of the first paper round and first love, of exciting encounters, and particularly of the growing bond created between Eugene and the distant enigmatic father he adores. Lyrical and hauntingly beautiful. The all-time classic picture book, from generation to generation, sold somewhere in the world every 30 seconds!
