Fiona also worked as a consultant on several antiques programs where the goods were sold at car boot sales, including Life Laundry and helped the contributors to make as much money and sell as many goods as possible. Fiona also buys and sells at car boot sales in her spare time when not writing the How to Profit from.. series for Remember When. This is a photographic journey looking at the soul of the car boot sale. It was a long-time project for me, stretching over five seasons covering car boot sales in one segment of Sweden. My ambition was to try to capture the overall feeling at these car boot sales, mainly by documenting them visually. But there is also a story told and some 3000+ words is put on the page. (This book also comes in a 7x7 in 'slim'-version. 80 pages, softcover, basic paper and fewer images. This is a photographic journey looking at the soul of the car boot sale. At the back you'll find 20 pages for car boot-related notes and ideas. The diary & planner is a handy 6in x 9in - perfect to carry around with you. This is also the ideal gift for the car-booter in your life! If you've ever wondered what goes through the mind of a car boot stall holder, then there are two things you need to do: 1. Read this book 2. Get yourself some new hobbies If you're thinking about setting up your very first car boot stall, then this book will be an excellent guide for you. If you've done one before, then the characters you'll meet in here will be all too familiar to you. Whilst it would be all too easy to present this book as some sort of manual, its primary purpose is to make you wonder why anyone in their right mind would ever choose to sell at a car boot sale. The hours are unsociable, the weather unpredictable and the profits are non-existent. But do it right, and they'll be the most hilarious and fun way to spend a morning. Paul J Rose took his assorted 'treasures' to a selection of car boot sales close to his home. His mission was a simple one - to clear out his house. However, as time went on, something much more interesting happened; the exchanges that took place between buyer and seller became more and more ridiculous. Eventually, the desire to get rid of stuff took second place to the gathering of stories. People's attempts at negotiation were frankly laughable, and it became clear that there was a pattern, and if that pattern could be recognised, then every car boot sale would be a joy. If you're looking for a guide on how to make the most money at a car boot sale, then you won't find it here. This is a light-hearted look at the people that choose to spend their early mornings in a field, looking to purchase other people's junk. Well, 'light-hearted' would be one way to put it; 'rant on the part of a middle-aged malcontent' might be another. For the entrepreneur, your guide to making millions awaits you... in some other book. In here, we cling to a simple mantra: "These people are paying me to clean my house." What you do need to know is that every exchange that takes place in this book genuinely happened. The internal monologue of the seller will certainly have been enhanced for comedic purposes, but however unbelievable these stories get, please know that they are all completely true. So if you're looking for an easy read that hopes to bring you some laughs, then Car Boot Tales is definitely the book for you. Enjoy it on the train. Read it on the bus. Fill pointless moments in the toilet. Seriously, how is any of this a big deal? It's a book - if you don't know the portable nature of books by now then there's really very little hope for you. In Writings for a Car Boot Sale, Pamela Theophilus Gardner takes readers on a new literary journey with her eclectic mix of writing to suit all moods. In this collection of short, entertaining fiction, fascinating non-fiction and academic essays, there is something for every reader. The book opens with a series of short stories; a selection of fictional sketches and narrative in a variety of forms, including realistic, fable and drama. This section concludes with a historical story, based on an episode in the life of the potter and ceramic artist, William Billingsley - which links nicely to Pamela's second collection: non-fiction ceramic mysteries. Well illustrated, the mysteries are accessible to all readers, with or without an interest in ceramics. Dating from early to late nineteenth century, social history and the characters populating the stories feature as strongly as does the porcelain. The book concludes with two, more challenging essays, stemming from Pamela's academic interest and professional experience in diet and health, and exploring a blend of science and the politics of food policy. Information for anyone who enjoys browsing at car boot sales, antique markets or even the local jumble sale. These engaging Storybooks provide structured practice for children learning to read the Read Write Inc. Set 1, 2 and 3 sounds. Each set of books is carefully levelled to match children's growing phonic knowledge so children can read them with accuracy, fluency and comprehension. The Storybooks include a range of engaging stories such as fairy tales, myths and legends, rhyming stories and familiar settings. Activities at the start of the books help children to practise the sounds and words they will encounter in the story. Questions to talk about at the end of the story provide an extra opportunity for developing children's comprehension. The books are part of the Read Write Inc. Phonics programme, developed by Ruth Miskin. The programme is designed to create fluent readers, confident speakers and willing writers. It includes Handbooks, Sounds Cards, Word Cards, Storybooks, Non-fiction, Writing books and an Online resource. Read Write Inc. is fully supported by comprehensive professional development from Ruth Miskin Training. An innocent day out on a Sunday Morning. Two friends trying to make some extra money. A turn of events gets out of control and the two return with life-changing stories. This book is about a true story of heartache. Betrayal in the worst possible way. A young girl to an adult woman's disrespect for her mother because of being put in care. Lessons that had to be learnt the hard way. Of true love for her mum which came through more heartache, her mum losing her life savings, family and health, more than anyone could deal with. The author and her family did deal with it and discovered true love before it was too late. Only then did they discover a diamond after having it in her possession for over 32 years, bought for only 10 and sold for over 540,000. A 26.27-carat diamond. A diamond that went on to sell at Sotheby's top lot. A real-life Only Fools and Horses story. A true fairytale gift of fate and karma, but most of all, love. A waltz through the weekend pastimes of many a British family. Selling or buying in an open field. Eating expensive burgers from stale buns and other delights. If, like me, you buy from car boot sales, charity shops and jumble sales and sell on the Internet, then this notebook should prove very useful.
